

2023 St John Ambulance First Aid courses

Have you ever attended a first aid course at Barra Brui? The Outdoor Division of St John Ambulance NSW (formerly the Scout Division) has been delivering training for Scouts by Scouts for 37 years.

HLTAID011 Provide first aid

This is the most popular first aid course, and is a successor to the earlier Apply First Aid and Senior First Aid courses. In 2021 535,920 students enrolled in HLTAID011

Over time more content has been added. Consequently, the trainers in the Outdoor Division now find that younger Youth Members can struggle with the volume of content and assessment. We recommend these Members instead enrol in HLTAID010 – see below

HLTAID013 Provide First Aid in a Remote or Isolated Environment

This is the most popular Remote First Aid course, and represents around three quarters of Remote First Aid training enrolments annually (Source: NCVET). As well as Scouts and bushwalkers, this course is undertaken by scientists doing field work, remote travellers, outdoor educators, commercial guides and others.

HLTAID013 is delivered as a 3-day course over two weekends and includes HLTAID011 Provide First Aid. Cost $225 (community price)

HLTAID013 cannot be used towards Guide accreditation with Scouts Australia.

These classes fill early! If you miss out, St John also offers the course monthly at Bundilla - Mon-Fri with a staff trainer (more expensive). Contact St John Ambulance Customer Service for details.
